FEBRUARY 13

A Variety of Topical Issues

This series of lectures will cover the following topical issues in veterinary medicine:

Jaime Brassard, RVT, CVPP

Perioperative Pain Management – What Could Be Missing?

Understanding how patient co-existing conditions and diseases play a role in our anesthetic plans, while recognizing the need for pharmacological, multi-modal and alternative therapies to address patient pain.

Conny Mosley, DVM, DACVAA, CVA

The ABCs of CBDs

Understanding the hype about CBD. What do we know and how do we answer the questions from pet owners? This lecture will summarize the most relevant points of cannabinoid veterinary medicine to help you navigate through the jungle of information.

VCA 404 Veterinary Emergency & Referral Hospital

SPONSOR: CDMV

MARCH 6

Focused Ultrasound: How to Use It to Evaluate and Trend Your Patients

Stephanie Nykamp, DVM, MSc
Ontario Veterinary College

Focused assessment with sonography for trauma, triage and trending (FAST) is a quick, non-invasive method of assessing emergency patients. This talk will review how to conduct abdominal and thoracic FAST exams, indications, and prognostic indicators. We will also compare the use of abdominal radiographs and ultrasound for patients with an acute abdomen.

SPONSOR: OVC Pet Trust

APRIL 10

Dentistry Equipment & Go Home Time

Judy Rochette, DVM, FVD, Diplomate AVDC
West Coast Veterinary Dental Services

Dentistry requires equipment and that equipment needs to be maintained including cleaning, sterilizing, sharpening and mechanical care. Ongoing oral health of the patient also requires maintenance involving medications and homecare.

SPONSOR: Hill's Pet Nutrition

MAY 15

Infectious Diseases

Scott Weese, DVM, DVSc, Diplomate ACVIM
Ontario Veterinary College

This series of lectures will involve a variety of infectious disease topics, including antibiotic resistant infections, antibiotic treatment of common diseases, emerging diseases and infection control.

SEPTEMBER 11

Practical Nutrition: Answering Everyday Questions on Commercial, Homemade and Raw Food Diets

Jackie Parr, BScH, DVM, MSc, Diplomate ACVN
Royal Canin

Are you struggling to answer questions on homemade and raw food diets? Do you want to learn how a veterinary clinical nutritionist objectively approaches discussions on both prescription and over-the-counter diets? Then this lecture is for you! Dr. Parr is a passionate speaker who will provide practical tools for general practice and a workshop on raw food and homemade diets.

SPONSOR: Royal Canin

OCTOBER 2

Getting Rid of Feline House Soiling: A Simplified Approach Based on Environmental Enrichment & Personality

Martin Godbout, DVM, MSc, DACVB
Globalvet

Environmental enrichment has a huge impact on behaviours of domestic cats. Find out how to maximise your results with a simplified approach that takes patients' individual personality into account. Improve their quality of life and prevent disorders such as aggression, feline house soiling and feline idiopathic cystitis.

SPONSOR: Royal Canin

NOVEMBER 13

Anesthesia... For the Rest of Us

Craig Mosley, DVM, MSc, Diplomate ACVAA
VCA 404 Veterinary Emergency & Referral Hospital

Anesthesia is inherently complex, however by applying basic principles and sound judgment risk and complications can be dramatically reduced. This lecture will focus on providing attendees with practical suggestions for enhancing the quality of anesthesia through an improved understanding of commonly used drugs, troubleshooting equipment and tools for improving patient safety.

SPONSOR: Central Sales
